

I believe that the current rules regulating ownership in the media should remain as they are. I believe the goal to change this is not in the best interests of the citizens of the USA. The FCC is the 'guardian' of the airwaves, not the purveyors of a commodity. This 'commodity' is the sole property of the people of this nation, and as such the citizenry should have the final say on this proposal.